SALEM, Ore., Nov. 19—Forty two inmates of the Oregon state mental hospital were dead today and approximately 400 others were deathly sick after eating a poisoned serving of scrambled eggs for dinner Wednesday night.

Death struck swiftly after the evening meal and by midnight 30 patients had succumbed. Reports of additional deaths continued to come from five affected wards throughout the early hours of the morning as a full staff of doctors and nurses battled to save the stricken men and women.

Suspicion increased today that some "inorganic material" had been added to the frozen egg yolks which produced the lethal meal.

"The nature of the poison will not be definitely determined until a chemical analysis is made," said Dr. John C. Evans, hospital superintendent, "but it becomes more apparent from present symptoms that some inorganic material rather than ptomaine was responsible for this terrible situation."

"Most of the patients appear to be making a good recovery, but age and general condition of the patients will play an important part in their survival."

Eggs which contained the poison were taken from a supply furnished by the federal surplus commodities administration six months ago, Dr. Evans said.

Construction of the largest pipe line ever built in the nation will begin between 30 and 60 days with the line running from Longview, Texas, to New York and Philadelphia traversing Pickaway county from west to east.

Pipe which will haul 300,000 barrels of crude oil daily from Texas to the eastern cities will be unloaded in this district at Mount Sterling.

The line will enter Pickaway county north of New Holland, continuing to the Pheasant vicinity, crossing the Scioto river south of South Bloomfield and continuing east into Fairfield county near Hooker. The line will be 1,300 miles long.

Construction is in charge of Lockwood, Kessler and Bartlett, engineers of New York, with George Bierling, engineer in charge of construction in the Circleville area.

The pipe line will enter Fayette county south to Milledgeville, running north to Bloomingburg and crossing the Pickaway line in the vicinity of Painesville.

Mr. Bierling said Thursday that frost will not affect the construction work.

Engineers for the company have been working in western Pickaway county for the last several days, surveying the route which the important line will follow. The pipe line will help alleviate the shortage of crude oil on the eastern seaboard.

Former King of Hoboes Provides Happy Funeral

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—Dr. Ben Reitman, self-styled radical and revolutionist, hoped that his funeral this afternoon would be a happy affair, unmarked by the mourning usually accompanying the passing of a friend.

In a typical gesture, the one-time "king of the hoboes" ordered in his last will that after his funeral expenses were cared for, for which he allotted $250, another $250 should be spent for a funeral dinner to which would be invited hoboes, unemployed and other down-and-outers whose champion he always was.

"I should like the service to be in a big hall with food, drink and fun, and a happy good time for all," he said in the will, dated October, 1936. He added:

"I wish to testify that life has been good, all of it. I enjoyed my childhood. I have had a wonderful mother who let me live my life my own way and who stood by me in everything I did, when I was arrested, when I became an anarchist, and when I did many other things she did not like."

"I want to state also that I had the most wonderful lover, companion, and wife in Anna Martindale Reitman (his first wife who died in 1930). She gave me her loyalty, devotion and cooperation that were constant and beautiful, and she gave me a son."

HOUSE TO MAP COMPROMISE ON ROOSEVELT PLEA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—A House Ways and Means Subcommittee will meet Friday in start drafting a compromise on President Roosevelt's proposal that he be given life and death powers over all immigration and tariff laws for duration of the war.

The committee pigeon-holed the administration's sweeping bill late yesterday after a sample of congressional sentiment had convinced members that the measure could never be gotten through Congress in such broad form.

Committee members said the new version would be restricted solely to the necessities of war and that plentiful safeguards would be embodied in the measure to make sure that Congress retains the bulk of the control over the tariff and immigration laws.

The subcommittee was appointed to revise the bill despite the supporting testimony by high ranking government officials. Testifying behind closed doors, Attorney General Biddle, Undersecretary of War Patterson, Assistant Secretary of Navy Forrestal, and Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission and other officials joined in "very strongly" urging that Mr. Roosevelt be given power to suspend tariff and immigration laws where they impede the free movement of persons and materials involved in the war.

Rep. Doughton (D) N. C., chairman of the full committee, said that "there is doubt" that the bill, drafted by the Justice department would ever get to the House floor "unless revised."

FOOD SHORTAGE FELT ON COAST

Pacific Leaders Appeal To Washington To Aid In Emergency

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19—Food shortages in a land of plenty today threatened the entire Pacific coast as governmental and agricultural leaders addressed appeals to Washington to alleviate a desperate situation in meat, milk, butter and other farm supplies.

As California cattlemen worried over how to dispose of excess stock, many cities were in the throes of a meat shortage. In San Francisco the situation was aggravated by a walkout of union slaughterhouse workers in a dispute over wage increase demands.

Although the workers ended the walkout yesterday after being off the job two days, butcher shops held little hope of re-stocking their depleted provisions until Saturday.

Reports from the Modesto, Cal., area told of stockmen with large quantities of beef steers and hogs for which no market can be found. They said slaughterhouse men are refusing to buy the animals because they have already met their quotas for the year and are forbidden under office of Price Administration orders to slaughter more animals until after the first of the year.

At Oakland, Cal., where the western regional dairy industries opened its annual conference, Dr. Robert Prior of Seattle, vice-president of the association, charged that "this war may be lost in Washington and on the farm unless changes are made."

Prior said western dairymen expected to produce 120,000,000,000 pounds of milk during 1942, but (Continued on Page Two)

SWEEPING PLAN WEIGHED FOR DAIRY CONTROL

Civilian Consumption Of Products May Be Hard Hit By Wickard

WAR NEEDS COME FIRST

Supply Of Cheese, Butter, Milk, Ice Cream To Be Cut 20 To 45 Percent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard today considered a sweeping plan for federal control of dairy products, with a view to sharp reduction in civilian consumption of milk and milk products.

Definitely in the shape of things to come, agriculture experts said, is milk rationing in at least a score of boom towns.

The overall milk control program will, if adopted, call for drastic cuts in the total amounts of milk, butter, cheese, ice cream and evaporated milk available to civilians.

Civilian consumption of fluid milk may be cut by 12 1/2 percent. Officials estimated that average milk consumption next year will be reduced to 780 pounds, compared with 838 pounds in 1942.

Further, civilian supply of cheese will probably be cut by as much as 45 percent; butter by 20 percent; ice cream by 25 percent, and canned milk by about 20 percent.

Agriculture spokesmen said that military needs come first, and that lend-lease requirements are a close second. Civilian requirements will be considered only after the first two needs are filled.

"Total requirements for milk or the basis of prospective consumer demands at ceiling prices and military and lend-lease needs will be materially larger in 1943 than in 1942," a report by the bureau of agricultural economics said.

Supply Dwindles

"Supplies of milk, on the other hand," the bureau stated, "probably will be smaller. Restrictions on civilian consumption are likely to be needed in the near future to insure adequate supplies for military and lend-lease purposes."

The shortage of milk products will be felt in 1943, it was said.

CIO LEFT WING SEEN AS BLIGHT ON LABOR UNITY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—As the long-postponed, much-heralded "peace" conference of the AFL and the CIO appeared stalled again, AFL officials today charged that CIO "left-wing" tactics were the major blight on labor unity.

In fact, certain of the AFL's more conservative leaders are expected to make an issue of alleged "Communism" in the CIO if peace proposals should reach the conference stage some time next week, as scheduled.

While not directly accusing the CIO of Communist tendencies, these AFL officials vehemently profess that they will "resist Communism now and always" when asked about a proposed unification with the CIO.

According to the AFL, conservative members of both unions are attempting to achieve unity in the interest of the "war effort and the welfare of all workers," while CIO "left-wingers" are interested only in preserving and furthering their "political ambitions."

Sidney Hillman, former chairman of the Office of Production Management, is understood to be leading the so-called conservative opinion within the CIO.

On the other hand, the CIO counters that a small group of "old-timers" in the AFL is attempting to "sell labor out."

Laval To Move Post To Paris

"Black Peter" Now Dictator And Nazis To Engulf All Of France

LONDON, Nov. 19—Frank admission that allied secret diplomacy had put an end to much of Vichy's pro-Naziism was voiced by Marcel Deat today coincident with announcement that Pierre Laval is transferring the French government back to Paris.

Deat, editor of the newspaper L'Ouvre and outstanding champion of French subservience to Adolf Hitler, said that Vichy would be abandoned because "it has become the symbol of all that is rotten."

LONDON, Nov. 19—French chief of government Pierre Laval, now virtually dictator of a France entirely engulfed by the Nazis, is transferring his government to Paris, the German-operated Paris radio reported today.

The Paris radio, according to Reuters quoted Marcel Deat, proxis editor as stating that the move would be made because "Vichy has become the symbol of all that is rotten."

Laval, principal proponent of full collaboration with the axis, was vested with far-reaching powers to promulgate laws as he deems fit by chief of state Marshal Henri Philippe Petain.

"The government must be stripped of its barely camouflaged De Gaulism which has reigned in Vichy for two years," Deat was quoted as saying.

IRON MOUNTAIN, Wis., Nov. 19—Wisconsin authorities today sought an unidentified deer hunter who shot and killed Albert E. Reif, 33, of Campbellsport, Wis., a supervisor of the Kettle Moraine forest in Florence county.

The hunter escaped after a running gun battle with Reif's companion, Floyd Sanders of Superior, Wis., a state conservation warden.

New Burma Activity Noted; Solomons Quiet; Russians To Launch Offensive

By International News Service
Continued success followed the course of allied campaigns today, on all fronts of the world-wide battlefield as decisive battles shaped up in Tunisia and New Guinea.

American, British and French forces moved closer to Bizerte and Tunis in North Africa in the wake of paratroop advance units and London predicted that the issue would be fully joined with the axis invaders over the week end.

On the jungle-clad island of New Guinea the battle for the Japanese base at Buna approached a climax as Japanese destroyers stood offshore. It was not clear, however, whether the enemy warships were preparing to support their land forces or were awaiting an opportunity to evacuate them.

On other fronts the armies of the United Nations moved slowly but inexorably ahead. An upsurge of offensive power has been unleashed by Russian forces on the southern front while in Libya the British eighth army pressed on beyond Benghazi on the heels of the beaten and stripped tank forces of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel. Contact with the enemy was established south of the port.

City of Turin Blasted

There were clear signs today that the threat of allied spokesmen to subject Italy to terrific bombings was seriously intended as a huge RAF force from England smashed at Turin.

An "unending procession" of British aircraft was said by observers on the southeast coast of England to have swept across the channel and out over the continent, indicating that the raid may prove to be heaviest yet carried out against northern Italy.

The attack was launched only a few hours after Walter Nash, New Zealand defense minister, said in Washington that Italy soon may be subjected to mass bombings such as have blasted German production centers.

In addition to airplane manufacturing plants, Turin is the site of metal works and chemical industries. The industries are supposed to be (Continued on Page Two)

DAKAR TO FALL LIKE RIPE PLUM, CAPITAL THINKS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—Official quarters in Washington today were confident that the great French naval base at Dakar, on the West coast of Africa, will soon be made available to American forces.

While there is no confirmation of reports that a French military mission already is enroute from Dakar to North Africa to discuss a capitulation agreement, American officials would not be surprised if such was the case.

The view prevails strongly in official circles that Dakar will fall like a ripe plum into United Nations hands as a result of the American occupation of French North Africa.

While it is not anticipated that the powerful French fleet at Dakar will immediately join the allied cause, it is felt that an agreement will be reached making that port available to American forces.

It is believed that the agreement probably will be based, in part, on an American offer to supply Dakar with food, clothing and other civilian requirements.

President Roosevelt announced last Friday that Lend-Lease aid would be extended to the French African territories at the discretion of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, commander of the United Nations forces in North Africa.

Continued success followed the course of allied campaigns today, on all fronts of the world-wide battlefield as decisive battles shaped up in Tunisia and New Guinea.

American, British and French forces moved closer to Bizerte and Tunis in North Africa in the wake of paratroop advance units and London predicted that the issue would be fully joined with the axis invaders over the week end.

On the jungle-clad island of New Guinea the battle for the Japanese base at Buna approached a climax as Japanese destroyers stood offshore. It was not clear, however, whether the enemy warships were preparing to support their land forces or were awaiting an opportunity to evacuate them.

On other fronts the armies of the United Nations moved slowly but inexorably ahead. An upsurge of offensive power has been unleashed by Russian forces on the southern front while in Libya the British eighth army pressed on beyond Benghazi on the heels of the beaten and stripped tank forces of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel. Contact with the enemy was established south of the port.

City of Turin Blasted
There were clear signs today that the threat of allied spokesmen to subject Italy to terrific bombings was seriously intended as a huge RAF force from England smashed at Turin.

An "unending procession" of British aircraft was said by observers on the southeast coast of England to have swept across the channel and out over the continent, indicating that the raid may prove to be heaviest yet carried out against northern Italy.

The attack was launched only a few hours after Walter Nash, New Zealand defense minister, said in Washington that Italy soon may be subjected to mass bombings such as have blasted German production centers.

In addition to airplane manufacturing plants, Turin is the site of metal works and chemical industries. The industries are supposed to be (Continued on Page Two)

DAKAR TO FALL LIKE RIPE PLUM, CAPITAL THINKS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—Official quarters in Washington today were confident that the great French naval base at Dakar, on the West coast of Africa, will soon be made available to American forces.

While there is no confirmation of reports that a French military mission already is enroute from Dakar to North Africa to discuss a capitulation agreement, American officials would not be surprised if such was the case.

The view prevails strongly in official circles that Dakar will fall like a ripe plum into United Nations hands as a result of the American occupation of French North Africa.

While it is not anticipated that the powerful French fleet at Dakar will immediately join the allied cause, it is felt that an agreement will be reached making that port available to American forces.

It is believed that the agreement probably will be based, in part, on an American offer to supply Dakar with food, clothing and other civilian requirements.

President Roosevelt announced last Friday that Lend-Lease aid would be extended to the French African territories at the discretion of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, commander of the United Nations forces in North Africa.

eggs, which were served in a scrambled style, when a lady attendant in ward three said she had noticed something strange about the food and ordered the patients not to eat it. Some of them ate the eggs before the warning was received and the attendant also tasted the food. All of those, including the attendant, were stricken.

Effects of the poisoned food struck swiftly. Some were taken sick in the dining room a few minutes after eating the eggs. Others doubled over in hallways and vomited.

Nurses on night duty were summoned to the hospital as soon as the terrible score of the poisoning became evident. The staff immediately administered emetics to the stricken patients in an effort to relieve their intensive suffering.

Source Determined

Determination that the eggs contained the poison was reached after a hurried investigation revealed that those who did not eat the egg preparation were not taken sick. Others complained that the food tasted strange.

Hospital attendants said the eggs were brought to Salem from Portland in a refrigerated truck and presumably had been supplied by the State Welfare Administration.

Bodies of the victims remained temporarily at the state hospital morgue.

Marion county coroner L. E. Barrick said an immediate investigation would be launched.

A complete analysis of the frozen eggs was to be made today in an attempt to definitely determine the source and type of poison.

Patients began complaining of illness within a few minutes after finishing the evening meal. Violent pain in the abdomen and vomiting of blood marked the prostrations which soon spread throughout the hospital wards. All inmates were put to bed immediately.

Those affected by the poison were patients of the less violent type who helped themselves and were able to do some work around the hospital.

Gov. Charles A. Sprague of Oregon summoned a meeting of the hospital board to conduct the first phase of an investigation of the tragedy.

that this figure will be cut by 10 per cent during 1943 if production is not stimulated.

William J. Cecil, director of the California state department of agriculture, addressed an appeal to OPA officials in Washington to permit increased producer prices, warning that unless dairymen are assured higher prices, Californians will go without milk.

In some Metropolitan areas grocers reported butter was almost impossible to obtain and many customers went without.

Shortages also were reported in cheese and canned fish as housewives turned to these items as substitutes for meat dishes.

In Portland, Ore., first of the west coast cities to be hard hit by meat shortages, fish was becoming the main bill of fare, but a record number of $1,000,000 marketable cattle ranged Oregon pastures.

In southern California grocersmen tempered their meat advertisements with notices that all supplies were limited to stocks on hand.

In the Kaiser shipyard boom town of Richmond, Cal., restaurants were without meat and attempted to feed hungry war workers with substitute dishes of spaghetti, souffles, beans and other starches.

BUDGET BOARD MAKES CUTS IN 1943 TAX RATES

More tax rate revisions were disclosed Thursday by the Pickaway county budget commission, most of the rates for 1943 in Pickaway county being cut considerably. Several, however, including Commercial Point, Scioto township, Darbyville and Muhlenberg school district, went higher because of special levies approved at the November election.

The commission will complete its work Thursday afternoon, all taxing districts of the county having been scheduled to appear by that time for establishment of new rates.

In the far east there were rumblings of new activity in Burma and in South China. Following the announcement of RAF bombings of Japanese airfields at Rangoon, Magwe and Meiktila, a Chinese military spokesman reported that the enemy had massed 18,000 to 30,000 men on the upper Salween for a thrust into Yunnan province. The Japanese forces were reported to be equipped with rubber boats for river crossings, and were said to have concentrated 200 to 300 planes on Burma airfields.

Allies May Move

But the possibility remained that allied forces in India might counter with an offensive into Burma.

At least three allied columns were believed to be driving into Tunisia as the eighth army in Libya closed in on the axis forces on the eastern arm of the gigantic African pincers movement.

London greeted reports that a fighting French force was driving north on Libya from the Lake Chad region of French Equatorial Africa with a great deal of reserve. It was pointed out that the movement of a self-sufficient army over hundreds of miles of desolate trackless desert was a tremendous undertaking.

Australian and American ground forces closed in on Buna while allied bombers were reported hunting down eight Japanese destroyers sighted off the coast. Murky weather made effective bombing difficult, however.

Australian jungle fighters were believed within 25 miles of Buna and the American column, driving along the coast from the East, was said to be only a few miles distant.

There was no news of activity in the southern Solomons, but it was assumed that the American Army and Marine forces on Guadalcanal island were taking or preparing steps to consolidate the great naval victory of the last week end.

The Red army, striking back at the Nazis in widespread attacks which may herald the start of a new Russian Winter offensive, today scored marked successes against the Germans in clashes at all key points on the southwestern and Caucasian fronts.

At beleaguered Stalingrad resurgent Soviet forces counter-attacked and seized a number of fortified positions on the southern outskirts of the city.

Axis sources reported, with some signs of apprehension, the massing of Russian reserves at least seven points on the 1,200-mile front from Leningrad to the Caspian Sea. A Vichy dispatch declared these concentrations were awaiting the freeze of rivers and lakes to launch a general Winter offensive.

Laval To Move Post To Paris

to the marshal, 'London would have knowledge of them tomorrow.'

"Agents of the secret service were in the very entourage of the marshal."

"Close and constant contact with messengers of London and Washington was responsible for the handing over of North Africa to the Anglo-Saxons."

"These are the facts from which natural conclusions will have to be drawn."

Aged Marshal Petain granted the new powers to Laval at the conclusion of a meeting of the council of ministers at Vichy Tuesday.

Virtual Dictator

The action, which also designated the unpopular "Black Peter" as "presumptive successor" to Marshal Petain, makes Laval virtual dictator of France. Previously Admiral Jean Francois Darlan had been designated to succeed the marshal but since his capitulation to American authorities in North Africa has been divested of all offices by the Vichy government.

Laval set about immediately to reorganize the cabinet, but the changes were considered of little consequence since he holds all power.

In some quarters it was felt that a new reign of terror might break out in France due to the placing of Laval in such a dominant position.

Nazi-controlled French newspapers, according to the BBC, meanwhile are admitting that pro-alied feeling has swept across France since the American invasion of North Africa.

"Shouts of joy swept through the homes of certain Frenchmen when they heard of the American landings in North Africa," the newspaper L'Oeuvre said. "These people confidently await the results of the operations."

beef cattle and the probability of only average pasture conditions in 1943 compared to unusually favorable pastures in 1942 point to lower milk production per cow next year than this," an agricultural official said.

Emergency measures may succeed in making 1943's milk production equal to 1942's 120,000,000,000 pounds. Military, lend-lease and civilian demands will continue to rise, however, and the large surplus stocks of milk products available in 1942 will be virtually exhausted next year.

Home front consumption of milk has gone up at least 20 percent in the last year, agriculture experts estimated. This increase, noted also in butter and other dairy products, was traced to the new prosperity in war centers.

Thus it is cities made rich by war contracts that are feeling the milk shortage.

WOMAN INJURED AS AUTO TURNS OVER AND BURNS

Mrs. Warner Austin, 65, of Fremont avenue, Columbus, suffered head, chest, nose and shoulder injuries, none of which was reported serious, at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday when her Packard sedan turned over and caught fire north of Bell's siding on Route 23. Mrs. Austin, who was riding alone, was taken to Berger hospital by Deputy Sheriff Vern Pontious.

Mrs. Austin told the deputy she was driving south enroute to visit Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall in Chillicothe when a north bound car forced her to drive to the side of the road and onto soft gravel. The car continued into a field near the home of E. F. Traub. Roy Leist, who lives nearby, helped remove Mrs. Austin from the automobile before flames broke out.

All of the wiring and all the upholstery in the car were destroyed by flames. The township fire truck, housed in Circleville, was taken to the scene.

Mrs. Austin remained in Berger hospital over night for treatment of shock and her injuries.

Deputy Pontious said that traffic was already under control when he reached the scene. Ned Harden, a member of the Civilian Defense auxiliary police force be-

London greeted reports that a fighting French force was driving north on Libya from the Lake Chad region of French Equatorial Africa with a great deal of reserve. It was pointed out that the movement of a self-sufficient army over hundreds of miles of desolate trackless desert was a tremendous undertaking.

Australian and American ground forces closed in on Buna while allied bombers were reported hunting down eight Japanese destroyers sighted off the coast. Murky weather made effective bombing difficult, however.

Australian jungle fighters were believed within 22 miles of Buna and the American column, driving along the coast from the East, was said to be only a few miles distant.

There was no news of activity in the southern Solomons, but it was assumed that the American Army and Marine forces on Guadalcanal island were taking or preparing steps to consolidate the great naval victory of the last week end.

The Red army, striking back at the Nazis in widespread attacks which may herald the start of a new Russian Winter offensive, today scored marked successes against the Germans in clashes at all key points on the southwestern and Caucasian fronts.

At beleaguered Stalingrad resurgent Soviet forces counter-attacked and seized a number of fortified positions on the southern outskirts of the city.

Axis sources reported, with some signs of apprehension, the massing of Russian reserves at at least seven points on the 1,200-mile front from Leningrad to the Caspian Sea. A Vichy dispatch declared these concentrations were awaiting the freeze of rivers and lakes to launch a general Winter offensive.

to the marshal, 'London' would have knowledge of them tomorrow.

"Agents of the secret service were in the very entourage of the marshal.

"Close and constant contact with messengers of London and Washington was responsible for the handing over of North Africa to the Anglo-Saxons.

Aged Marshal Petain granted the new powers to Laval at the conclusion of a meeting of the council of ministers at Vichy Tuesday.

Virtual Dictator

The action, which also designated the unpopular "Black Peter" as "presumptive successor" to Marshal Petain, makes Laval virtual dictator of France. Previously Admiral Jean Francois Darlan had been designated to succeed the marshal but since his capitulation to American authorities in North Africa has been divested of all offices by the Vichy government.

Laval set about immediately to reorganize the cabinet, but the changes were considered of little consequence since he holds all power.

In some quarters it was felt that a new reign of terror might break out in France due to the placing of Laval in such a dominant position.

Nazi-controlled French newspapers, according to the BBC, meanwhile are admitting that pro-alied feeling has swept across France since the American invasion of North Africa.

"Shouts of joy swept through the homes of certain Frenchmen when they heard of the American landings in North Africa," the newspaper L'Oeuvre said. "These people confidently await the results of the operations."

beef cattle and the probability of only average pasture conditions in 1943 compared to unusually favorable pastures in 1942 point to lower milk production per cow next year than this," an agricultural official said.

Emergency measures may succeed in making 1943's milk production equal to 1942's 120,000,000,000 pounds. Military, lend-lease and civilian demands will continue to rise, however, and the large surplus stocks of milk products available in 1942 will be virtually exhausted next year.

Home front consumption of milk has gone up at least 20 percent in the last year, agriculture experts estimated. This increase, noted also in butter and other dairy products, was traced to the new prosperity in war centers.

Thus it is cities made rich by war contracts that are feeling the milk shortage.

WOMAN INJURED AS AUTO TURNS OVER AND BURNS

Mrs. Warner Austin, 65, of Frebis avenue, Columbus, suffered head, chest, nose and shoulder injuries, none of which was reported serious, at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday when her Packard sedan turned over and caught fire north of Bell's siding on Route 23. Mrs. Austin, who was riding alone, was taken to Berger hospital by Deputy Sheriff Vern Pontious.

Mrs. Austin told the deputy she was driving south enroute to visit Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall in Chillicothe when a north bound car forced her to drive to the side of the road and onto soft gravel. The car continued into a field near the home of E. F. Traub. Roy Leist, who lives nearby, helped remove Mrs. Austin from the automobile before flames broke out.

All of the wiring and all the upholstery in the car were destroyed by flames. The township fire truck, housed in Circleville, was taken to the scene.

Mrs. Austin remained in Berger hospital over night for treatment of shock and her injuries.

Deputy Pontious said that traffic was already under control when he reached the scene. Ned Harden, a member of the Civilian Defense auxiliary police force be-

COUNCIL STILL INTERESTED IN WATER PLANT

Cincinnati Bond House Puts Finance Plan Before City Officials

RATE SESSION CALLED

Aldermen In Regular Meet Allocate Funds For Rest Of Year

Circleville council let it be known Wednesday evening at its regular meeting that, despite a vote to the contrary two weeks ago, it still may be interested in buying the property of the Ohio Water Service company. Council at its last meeting voted to approve a recommendation of its finance committee abandoning discussions dealing with the purchase. It was claimed that the $550,000 price tag put on the property was entirely too high.

But Wednesday evening indications were that council might still be interested, John Browning, of Cincinnati and Washington C. H., representative of a Cincinnati bonding house interested in financing the purchase, appeared before council to outline his company's program. Mr. Browning received a friendly reception, and was told that he may hear from council soon.

A meeting has been arranged between officials of the water company and council for Thursday evening, December 3, at which time new rates will be discussed. Circleville plant has been operating without a contract for the last several years, no new contract having been written when an old one expired.

The conference with company officials may have some bearing on the decision of council concerning negotiations for purchase of the water works.

Council voted Wednesday evening under suspension of rules to put enough money in various funds to tide them over until December 31. Included in appropriations were: $3,041.59 for salaries, supplies, utilities, food and other items at Berger hospital; $344.64 for maintenance at the public library; $175 for disposal plant expense; $200 for relief bills, such as burials and ambulance trips; $390.40 for police salaries and $385.56 for firemen's salaries.

Total amount of money appropriated for all was $4,537.19.

The amount set aside for Berger hospital is added to $2,500 already transferred there, the total amount being about the usual deficit for each year.

Funds now held in the city treasury include: general, $14,623.17; sewage disposal, $7,429.10; li-

BREHM NAMES FLYER'S WIDOW AS SECRETARY

Dr. Walter E. Bréh, Logan, who will succeed Harold K. Claypool, Chillicothe Democrat in congress from the 11th Ohio district, announces appointment of Mrs. Delores Lee Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee of Logan, to become his secretary. Mrs. Miller is the widow of Lieutenant Clark Miller of the U. S. Army air corps who was fatally injured in an airplane crash August, 1942, when testing an Army plane at Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. Miller is a graduate of Logan high school, class of 1937, where she was first honor student. She received a degree from Miami university, Oxford, in 1941. After graduation she was employed by the Columbus Coated Fabrics company as private secretary to the sales manager. She gave up this position to marry Lieutenant Miller, a classmate at Miami.

Since death of her husband, Mrs. Miller has lived with her parents in Logan.

In announcing the appointment, Dr. Bréh declared that he was motivated by two impulses. "First," he said, "I know that Delores possesses the qualifications to make an outstanding secretary and secondly I felt that it was little enough to do for the widow of one of our air pilots who made the supreme sacrifice in defense of his country during the present crisis."

Mrs. Miller will assume her new duties when the congress convenes in January, 1943.

Salary, $1,296.52; auto street repair, $7,641.64; gasoline tax, $4,848.91, and hospital, $27.22. Unpaid bills to date amount to $815.83 for Berger hospital, $35 for burial and $27 for ambulance.

Councilman George L. Crites, service committee chairman, informed council that his committee, which was given power to do so several weeks ago, had purchased an insurance policy protecting three fire trucks, two service department trucks and two police cruisers. The policies represent general coverage and cost the city $69.01 for a year. Total valuation under the policy is $118.50.

The tray contained 20 small diamond rings and numerous mounts, valued at several hundred dollars.

Ross county jury returned a verdict of $6,762.98 Wednesday in trial of a $66,514 damage action brought by Mrs. Ella McKee Johnson, of Chillicothe and Frankfort, against the Steely Trucking company, Cleveland. Mrs. Johnson had sued the trucking com-

TICKETS GONE FOR OHIO GAME

Henry B. Taylor Reports
Capacity Crowd Will Witness Contest

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19.—The annual seige of football madness in Columbus, which Saturday becomes the gridiron capital of the world, zoomed toward its peak today as Ticket Director Henry D. Taylor announced that all 76,000 tickets for the Ohio State-Michigan game have been sold.

Thus the crowd will be the largest since that fateful Saturday in 1935 when 81,000-plus watched an inspired Notre Dame team come from behind and smash Ohio State's hopes.

Saturday's classic will be carried by both major networks and shortwaved to all parts of the world. Despite the fact both teams have once this season suffered defeats—Ohio State by Wisconsin and Michigan by her long-time jinx, Minnesota—both are ranked among the strongest teams in the nation.

Add to this the traditional rivalry of the two teams, and the fact that the Western Conference title is at stake, and there you have a football game.

Coach Paul Brown's Bucks concentrated on offense as they went through final practices, indicating that a free-scoring game is in the offing. Both squads are power teams, with Michigan conceded to have an edge in passing and punting.

Brown frenziedly sought additional halfback strength even though some slight ray of hope persisted that Tommy James, scat-runner of the Buck backfield, might somehow be able to play a portion of the game. James suffered a shoulder separation in last week's game with Illinois after two scintillating touchdown runs.

The local W.S.C.S. will meet next Wednesday November 25 at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Paul Peck.

Miss Marian Moon and Mr. and Mrs. John Farmer Jr. were Sunday dinner guests of Miss Moon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Moon of near Lucasville.

Hunting Season Begins At Noon Friday With Conservation Chief Discussing Rules

As nimrods grease their guns and polish their boots in preparation for hunting season's official opening at 12 o'clock noon Friday, they can anticipate a greater abundance of rabbits and pheasants than there has been for many years along with their choice of 20 areas amounting to 165,000 acres of land, Ohio Conservation Commissioner Don Waters announces.

"It is evident that the more-than-brisk sales of hunting equipment have been due partly to hundreds of men who have not hunted much, heretofore, but who now figure they're going to get out one day at least during the coming season for the sake of the relaxation it affords," Waters pointed out.

Although there are many men in the armed services, early reports on the sale of hunting licenses show that there may be as many hunters as usual.

With the prospect of meat rationing in the offing the mention of the guns this season as more women are expected to take to the fields to "bring home the bacon," especially those who have toughened up a trigger finger in the defense plants, Waters said.

"Such a heavy game crop is evidently enticing many defense workers to arrange their hours so they may hunt this fall," Waters continued, "in addition to the several thousands of farmers and landowners who will hunt on their own lands enjoying along with the other sportsmen the game crop which they have provided."

The pheasant, Hungarian partridge and ruffed grouse season ends December 5 while nimrods can continue their rabbit hunts through January 5. Hunting does not open until noon the first day, but the remainder of the season hours will be from 8:30 to 6:30 p. m. except for raccoons which may be hunted through January 15 from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. The season on mink, muskrat, opossum and skunk is the same except in the Lake Erie trapping district where mink and muskrat may be taken as late as March 15.

Limits Set Up
The daily bag limit on pheasants is two cock birds with four in possession after the first day; Hungarian partridge, four, with four in possession after the first day, and ruffed grouse, two, with four in possession after the first day. Daily limit on rabbits remains as last year—four—but the limit on the number which may be possessed after the first day has been increased to eight.

It is likely that the hunters will flood the fields, until December 1 when gas rationing is scheduled to start, and after that they will probably concentrate in areas close to their homes, for treks to hunting grounds 400 and 500 miles away will probably be out at least

HOW TO BUILD IN WINTER WITH CONCRETE

You needn't wait 'til spring to do farm concrete work. Valuable wartime production aids such as labor-saving barn floors, sanitary farrowing floors and other inside jobs are easily protected from the weather. Precast watering troughs can be built in the barn. Foundations can be trenched, filled with straw to keep out frost, and concrete placed anytime the weather is above freezing.

The necessary precautions for winter concreting are simple. Write for free instructions and plan now to make repairs and improvements as weather permits. Concrete materials are widely available. Reinforcing steel seldom needed.

Georgia Tech Being Favored Over Georgia

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—With a Sugar Bowl bid and a possible national championship hanging in the balance, Georgia Tech is a far better bet to beat Georgia a week from Saturday than most observers predict.

In this most important of all late season games—because of the unsullied records of both teams—Georgia Tech may be primed for a do or die effort that will leave Georgia utterly helpless. In any case this is a great chance to do some experting, and to reveal some of the intricacies of trying to pick winners.

The reading public may think that football pickers are completely dopey, and that there is neither rhyme nor reason behind their selections, when, as a matter of fact, everything is based on scientific formula and psychological reasoning, or words to that effect, give or take a few syllables.

Let us take Georgia Tech and Georgia apart and you will see how the former might be picked without any apologies or loopholes.

I might mention here that I am jumping all the way ahead to a week from Saturday to talk about this game because there is nothing in the meantime to compare with it. Georgia plays Auburn this Saturday and should win as handily as Georgia Tech will win from Florida. Boston College and Tulsa, the other undefeated and untied teams, likewise will win as they please.

But Georgia and Georgia Tech hold a peculiar place in the football scheme of things in that they have been bowling along all season toward an eventful meeting with each other.

When, a week from Saturday, they clash the victor will stand within a single game of the national championship, which probably will be decided between the victor and Boston College in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl.

HOW TO BUILD IN WINTER WITH CONCRETE

You needn't wait 'til spring to do farm concrete work. Valuable wartime production aids such as labor-saving barn floors, sanitary farrowing floors and other inside jobs are easily protected from the weather. Precast watering troughs can be built in the barn. Foundations can be trenched, filled with straw to keep out frost, and concrete placed anytime the weather is above freezing.

The necessary precautions for winter concreting are simple. Write for free instructions and plan now to make repairs and improvements as weather permits. Concrete materials are widely available. Reinforcing steel seldom needed.

GAS RATIONING TO BE ENFORCED FROM BEGINNING

300 Investigators Ready To Start Work In All Parts Of State

A CARDS BEING ISSUED

Listing For Supplemental Books Starts November 23 At Memorial Hall

Motorists were warned Thursday that vigorous mileage rationing enforcement program covering every county in Ohio will be started the moment nation-wide rationing begins at 12:01 a. m., December 1. Birkett L. Williams, Cleveland, regional OPA administrator who makes visits regularly to the Pickaway county War Price and Rationing offices, declared Thursday that on the eve of the day rationing starts 300 investigators now attached to the regional office in Cleveland will scatter through the state with instructions to make a "spot" but well distributed check of filling stations.

Persons seeking basic "A" ration books were moving into school buildings of the city and county for the second day Thursday with registration to be completed Friday. Hours for registration are 4 to 9 p. m., and from all reports available, school staffs have been able to speed completion of all registration work. It requires only a few minutes to obtain the basic "A" card if the application is properly filled out.

Steady Registration No rush of applicants was reported at any time during the day and evening Wednesday, the influx remaining steady, however. More persons were expected to register Thursday, with Friday ending the sign up.

Registration for supplemental cards will begin Monday, November 23, in Memorial Hall, a specially-trained battery of registrars being available from 1 to 9 p. m. No person may apply for a supplemental card without first having received a basic card.

Mr. Williams in discussing the OPA's plan to check up on the rationing program the minute it starts said that Ohio will benefit from lessons learned in the east where gasoline rationing was first put into operation.

Gasoline rationing, he pointed out, has become mileage rationing and mileage rationing is aimed not at the conservation of gasoline primarily but directly at saving critical rubber in the nation's transportation crisis.

On the morning of December 1, all the supplemental "B" and "C" ration books will have been issued, and the motorist will have to have his ration book to buy gasoline. On the same morning and through December 1 and 2, the gasoline retailers must register at their local War Price and Rationing Boards. In their registration forms (which will be available on or soon after November 20), they must state the capacity of their tanks and the gallonage of gasoline in them. The push-off of the drive for compliance, which will be followed through aggressively from the very outset, the regional chief stated, will be a check on the capacity of tanks and the inventories gallonage on hand as of 12:01, December 1.

The plan is to strike at any expected scheme of a few who might attempt to conceal a store of gasoline and put themselves in a position later to bootleg gasoline.

The 300 official operatives are not all the enforcement investigators that the OPA in this region will have.

A voluntary corps of gasoline truck drivers, delivering throughout the region, and the sealers of the state and local weights and measures staffs, have been recruited to assist OPA in its mileage rationing enforcement work.

If Hitler Comes—

Scenes such as this may take place if Hitler's Luftwaffe, maddened by reverses in the skies over Europe and Africa, strikes at our shores. During an air raid test in which power lines serving Pelham, N. Y., were theoretically blasted by enemy bombs, there was no light other than that given by a candle. Mrs. H. Llewellyn Roberts, a volunteer nurse, is seen binding the "wounds" of five-year-old Anthony Therrein by candle.

Local Board Gets Set To Register Teen Ageds

Machinery for registering Circleville and Pickaway county youths who have become 18 years of age since last June 30 is being set up with local Selective Service board estimating that not more than 100 Pickaway countians are included in this group. The figure of 100 is merely an estimate, the total possibly running higher or lower.

President Roosevelt, Wednesday, provided three registration dates. Boys who became 18 in July and August are to register during the week of December 11; those born in September and October will register the week of December 18. Those becoming 18 in November and December will register between December 26 and 31.

After January 1 youths becoming 18 will register on their birth days.

Just where the registration will take place is not certain, although the board has indicated that it will have volunteer workers set up a registration center in the common pleas courtroom of the courthouse. This plan, however, is not yet definite.

WORKERS TAX UNCHANGED FOR TWELVE MONTHS

Employees who are covered by the Social Security Act will continue to have one percent of their wages deducted for old-age and survivors insurance after January 1, 1943. This rate, which has been in effect since social security went into effect January 1, 1937, will continue throughout 1943.

The original Social Security Act provided for an increase of one-half of one percent every three years, as the worker's contribution under old-age and survivors insurance. The tax act of October, 1942, as passed by the congress and signed by the President, provides that wages received during the calendar years 1939, 1940, 1941, 1942 and 1943 are subject to a tax of one percent each for the worker and the employer.

This act also provides that with respect to wages paid during the years 1944 and 1945 the rate of tax for the worker and the employer shall be two percent for each. The taxes apply only to the first $3,000 of earnings of an individual during a single calendar year.

The combined taxes are payable quarterly to the United States collector of internal revenue. Returns must be made, when the taxes are paid, showing the names, social security account numbers and wages paid to each worker in the period covered by the return.

OVERRULING ROOSEVELT

More and more it looks as if Ferdinand Eberstadt, the Wall street broker, is becoming the most powerful man in the War Production Board and one of the most powerful in the government. It hasn't leaked out yet, but recently he managed to overrule the Vice President of the United States, the Undersecretary of State, and Lend-Lease Administrator Ed Stettinius.

Some time ago, Eberstadt appointed as chief of WPB Export Priorities, Major Tom Armstrong, of Standard Oil of New Jersey, who had operated in various Latin American countries. Armstrong had been vigorous in bucking the development of Latin American Government-owned oil companies, and the Latin Americans didn't like him. Therefore, they squawked when they heard he would now sit in the all-important priorities position where he could decide whether they could, or could not, receive oil equipment to develop their government-owned industries in competition with Standard and private companies.

Undersecretary of State Welles agreed with the Latin Americans, and protested to the President. So did Vice President Wallace of the BEW, and also Stettinius, who buys lend-lease oil equipment for Latin American governments.

As a result of these protests, Roosevelt ordered Donald Nelson to dismiss Major Armstrong. However, Eberstadt in effect has overruled the President. He insisted that Armstrong remain. And he is still on the job.

Among other things, he has been very adroit in handling Gen. Giraud, who escaped from France dressed as an old woman and who now is in command of French forces in North Africa.

Actually, Gen. Giraud expected to be commander of all forces in North Africa, both French and American. He is one of the highest generals in the French army, and before France fell, would have replaced Gen. Gamelin as Chief of Staff had he not been taken prisoner. Therefore, since he outranks Eisenhower and has had much more varied experience, it is not unnatural that Giraud should aspire to be commander-in-chief of the entire North African operation, including the U. S. Army.

Eisenhower, however, has a charming personality, a broad grin, a smattering of French, and

Another complication was the fact that Giraud hates Admiral Darlan. Yet Darlan, as a member of the cabinet, outranks him. In addition, there is Gen. Nogues, another top-ranking officer. BALLOT BOARD MAKES OFFICIAL REPORT ON LEVY

It's official now. Council Clerk Fred Nicholas read a communication Wednesday from the election board disclosing that the three-fourths mill levy for operating expenses voted on November 3 had failed. The vote for the levy was 1,080 and 601 against. The measure was 72 votes short of the necessary 65 percent of the total vote. About $6,000 would have been provided for Berger hospital each year for the next two years had the levy been approved.

NEW COTTON SHORTS
WASHINGTON — Knee-length trousers now are being issued for the first time in history by the United States Army for wear by troops in certain areas, the War department announces. The cotton khaki shorts are cut to a smart and serviceable pattern, somewhat similar to those worn by British soldiers in tropical and desert areas. They have unusually wide legs and give maximum freedom of movement.

JAP WAR NEWS

THE oriental mind is often said to be unfathomable, and this seems especially true in war reports. Western nations with, let us say, a less poetic handling of fact, are usually more straightforward, whether in peace or war.

The contrast in veracity and realism is notable when comparing Japanese war reports with our own. Our military and naval authorities may withhold war news temporarily, but do not turn it upside down. Our defeats are soon acknowledged, and so our victories are believed when announced. Probably not one American in a hundred thought of questioning the report of this last big naval victory over the Japanese fleet in the Solomon Islands.

But the Japanese radio and press blared to their own people and to all the world that Japan had won a great victory, that the American navy was annihilated and the Japanese were on the point of taking over all the Solomon Islands. They boasted that the Battle of the Solomons was "proving fatal to the American navy." The big Japanese news agency, Domei, said "The Japanese have the Americans where they want them." A foreign propaganda broadcast from Tokyo announced: "These brilliant achievements are the most efficacious proof of the complete debacle of enemy attempts against the invincible Japanese navy."

What can they hope to accomplish by such nonsense? Lying claims are sure to backfire sooner or later. And what will the Japanese people do when they learn how their war-makers have deceived them?

TOUGH-MINDEDNESS

"WE'VE got to stop preaching only of moral issues," says a retired minister who now does his sermonizing in a newspaper column. "We must inform our people how the Nazis shoot hostages, and what it will take to beat such a hard, cruel enemy. We must face hard facts and get tough-minded."

He also reminds people that "gasoline rationing is only the beginning of a terrific dislocation of our lives, and we must learn to make adjustments as the English did." Fortunately pretty good progress has already been made along these lines. But it is still necessary for civilians to wear off a lot of fat, both physical and mental, as the men in uniform do.

President Roosevelt spoke French to Vichy the other day. Next thing he'll probably talk Dutch to Berlin.

Coming to the aid of the party doesn't matter so much now, but this is the time for all good men to work like you know what.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE.... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a nasty morning, the furnace out, the paper undelivered, the radio out of kilter. And the night before big news is the making. So, tarried only briefly and hurried downtown. Found the post deserted and the plant dark except for the desk of Geib, that fine gatherer of local news. Scanned the prints for a quarter hour and then took up the daily stint.

How world news does pour in these days, some 60,000 words of it between 8 in the morning and 2 in the afternoon. From that grand total must be gleaned the part you read each afternoon. You get the cream, the rest goes to the wastebasket, but it all must be read first.

Met Jim Evans and learned that most of the bass had disappeared from the Stump and Dillard gravel pit lake. A few big ones left, but the place of the smaller ones has been taken by carp. Since the lake is spring fed and the water always cold did suggest that great northern pike and walleyes might thrive there. Would be an excellent experimental spot for the state conservation department.

No one has made the claim yet, but it wouldn't surprise me a bit when the draft reaches into the married man class if some dad claims exemption on the ground that he should stay home and hold up his baby's pants. Far fetched? It may be you are not aware of the shortage of safety pins. Only two of six department stores in town have any at all, and their supply is fast dwindling and probably cannot be replaced.

Wonder what happened to the ones who believed they would escape the effects of war? Probably by now they have heard of increased taxes, frozen wages, increased cost of living, gas and meat and fuel rationing, no new automobiles, 35 miles an hour, 10 percent of income in Defense Bonds, sons, friends and neighbors marching off to war, casualty lists. This only the beginning. And on the lighter side the gals having a tough time getting elastic for whatever they use elastic for, practically no hairpins or common pins available and a dearth of needles. Seems to me we will all admit the effects of war before this one is over.

See the mighty hunters oiling their guns and checking equipment ahead of the grand opening of hunting season Friday. But getting game this year will be not too much of a feat. More rabbits and birds right now than I ever have seen before in Ohio. Unless they all take to cover pronto the nimrods should bag their limits in short order.

After the trouncing the Japs have been taking on and around Guadalcanal I wonder whether or not Tojo is beginning to suspect that he will not be dictating peace terms at the White House?

SIDETRACKED PLANES

WASHINGTON—When Wendell Willkie conferred with Stalin in Moscow, the Russian leader was critical of the British for sidetracking American lend-lease goods in Scotland and substituting for them inferior British war supplies.

The inside story of this can now be told—a story which Stalin apparently did not know when he talked to Willkie.

Last Summer, a shipment of Airacobras was enroute to Russia from the United States and the convoy stopped to refuel in the British Isles. At that time, Gen. Eisenhower, preparing for the second front in Africa, asked that these fast fighting planes be given to him instead of being sent on to Russia.

Gen. Eisenhower was so insistent that he finally went to Prime Minister Churchill personally, who finally agreed that the Airacobras be sidetracked for use on the forthcoming African front.

That was why Stalin never got them.

MAJOR ROOSEVELT

This column threw plenty of harpoons into Jimmy Roosevelt in the old Boston insurance days, so now it takes pleasure in evening up the score. The real story of what Major Roosevelt has been doing in the Marine Corps is gradually leaking out through his comrades. It would have been on the front pages if he were not the President's son.

Jimmy is a member of the Raiders, equivalent to the British Commandos, the most dangerous branch of the Marine Corps. As such he landed on Makin Island in the mid-Pacific, to wipe out a Jap base.

Going ashore from a submarine in a rubber boat, Roosevelt's party upset seven times on an outer reef before it finally reached the island. Then the Raiders wiped out the Jap garrison, ranged through the island for two days until every Jap was exterminated. During the raid, the Japs sent in two big troop transport planes to retake the island. Roosevelt's men were armed only with light calibre machine guns. But they waited until each plane was close to the ground, then opened up full force and wiped out each plane.

Five of Roosevelt's men were killed, and about 130 Japs. When the job was done, Roosevelt took his men out on rubber boats, finally found their submarines.

Men who have served with Jimmy pay him great tribute, says he has the courage of a real leader, inspires confidence. No one seeing him unshaven for days, looking gaunt and hungry on the battle front would ever recognize him as the son of the President.

GEN. EISENHOWER'S JOKE

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, leader of the African expedition, has a rich sense of humor as well as the qualities of military leadership. Here is a story he tells on himself.

Development of Children Beyond the Age of Two

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE two-year-old baby has advanced quite a way along the road of life. It began as a little animal that could not even roll over or raise its head, and can now stand and walk alone, grasp objects, do things—not very purposefully—with its hands; it can see and focus, and has learned to coordinate the movements of both eyes; it can hear, tell what direction a sound is coming from, and even knows the significance of a few sounds.

Eating training at two years old should have progressed to the place where the baby comes to the table hungry.

He will feed himself, clumsily and spilling a good deal, but managing to get quite a lot into the mouth. He may tire from the effort in the middle of the meal and have to be helped in order to get all he should have.

Toilet training should begin to bring results at about the age of two. Parents, as a rule, expect too much of children about this. They should not make an issue of it at any time nor inflict punishments.

The average 18-month child cannot be expected to take much responsibility. It is up to the mother to see that he gets to the toilet in time. He will have many accidents, but by 18 months should have a hazy idea of what is expected of him. From then on the normal child learns rapidly. By four years, however, any child should take full responsibility for his toilet needs.

Social Contacts
Social contacts and cooperation are of slow growth. The two-year-old plays by himself. You see two two-year-olds on opposite sides of a sand pile. They are playing, but not playing together. At four they play together, even in groups, but only for a few minutes at a time. Then they rest, do something by themselves, but are soon ready at someone's suggestion to start a new game.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper. Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Council was to hear an offer of boulevard lights for the city from the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company, the offer to be made at a special meeting.

Pickaway county, Circleville township were working out a combined program to provide additional burial space for war veterans in Forest cemetery.

Receipt of $100 from the estate of Miss Jennie E. Lounsbury, Park place, was announced to council. The gift was made as a memorial.

10 YEARS AGO

In an effort to keep within the 15-min limit as allowed by law, the bond issue for the purchase of a sewage disposal plant by city council was reduced from $25,000 to $23,000.

The city's fire rates faced revision, it was learned, unless certain provisions advocated by the Ohio Bureau of Inspection were adhered to within the near future, according to a communication from T. B. Sellers, manager of the inspection bureau.

About 115 men and women met at Masonic temple of New Holland for the impressive memorial service of New Holland and Sedalia chapters of the Order of the Eastern Star.

25 YEARS AGO

Capacity of the Franklin Shoe Company's new plant in Circleville was taxed to capacity and big orders were being booked daily.

The safe in the office of the county treasury, which had resisted all efforts to open it for eight days, was finally opened by Frank Scanland and Joseph Fauver, employees of the Charles W. Haines Safe company, Columbus, after a section of the cement and brick wall surrounding the outer shell of the vault was removed near the jam of the door.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Alkire and Mr. and Mrs. Max Zahn of Mt. Sterling entertained 12 guests at a roast pig dinner at First National bank hall of that village.

CHAPTER FORTY-TWO

CONNIE LOOKED up from her desk as Mary came into the busy personnel department. "Back from lunch?"

Mary nodded. "May I use your phone?" Connie moved aside to make room for her and Mary dialed the F. B. I. extension. "This is Mary Dexter," she said to Danver. "Everything is fine."

"Be careful," said Danver. "Take a taxi home after you call us tonight."

Mary called Fran next. "I may be a little late," she told her. "Terribly sorry, but it can't be helped." "Okay," Fran shouted in her excitement. "I'm going around like a pinwheel. Packed everything five times. Do you have any idea what I did with my bathing suit?"

"In that packing box on the shelf in the coat closet." Fran groaned. "Packed it there myself. Honestly, chickadee, I'm in a bad way. They called Burke in for a last recording with the band this afternoon. Thank goodness they didn't need me. Hope they don't keep him all night! When you come home?"

Mary laughed. "I'll be late—remember? Why don't you lie down and take a nap? If Bruce gets there before me, make him wait, will you?"

"I'll nail him in the chair," Fran promised.

Mary put the receiver down with a happy surge of excitement. She had called Bruce but he wasn't in. But she knew, if he wanted to, he'd go to Yuma with them on the spur of the moment. That was Bruce. No appointment would be enough to hold him. She felt in her heart that he would go. A moonlight drive to Yuma for a wedding? She turned a dreamy smile to Connie to thank her for the phone.

Connie was watching her with a puzzled frown. "Mary, I don't like to seem inquisitive," she said in her cold, flat tones, "but that wasn't Bruce Martin you meant just now?"

"Yes, it was," Mary's voice was slightly defiant. "And no matter what you think you know about him—it isn't so," she added with a rush of feeling.

"Not even this?" Connie turned back the page of a newspaper. She pointed to a picture. Mary's eyes followed her finger with swift impatience, then focused with sudden shock. It was a shot of Bruce Martin and Toinette at the races in Caliente, taken weeks before. But over it a banner headline: "Toinette Vaughn to Marry Next Week."

Somehow she got back to her desk and bent over her work. An applicant sat down and began his endless questions. Connie came by, asked her if she felt like working tonight. Dumbly she nodded, not looking up. She opened her desk drawer and drew out her pencil.

She didn't dare think now—she must concentrate on the life of this stranger beside her or she would go to pieces. She couldn't go to pieces. She had to meet Joe Banks in an hour. She had to go with him.

She moved out of the building slightly ahead of the home-bound mob of the swing shift that night, and stood waiting at the tunnel entrance for Joe. Released from its concentration, her mind began to function. Instantly the shock and the agony swept over her again. Feebly she fought it off. It was a mistake. But she knew it wasn't a mistake. The papers had been on the stands an hour now. If it had been a mistake he would have called her. But he loved her! Relentlessly, her mind questioned, "Does he?" She turned back desperately to last night—was it only last night?—when he had told her of his life, kissed her. Had he told her he loved her? No. He had thanked her for having faith in him.

For helping him pull himself together. He had promised to see her tonight. And then today... he had met Toinette. It had happened before just like that. Now it had happened again. Why couldn't she realize it? Why did the pain of it have to be worse than ever?

And then she saw Joe Banks hurrying toward her. "Listen, sister," his broad face was lit with excitement. "I couldn't borrow the car tonight. How about telling me all about it tomorrow?"

"Oh, no!" Mary's voice was alive with fright. "Don't leave me alone now, please. Let me go with you. I HAVE to talk to you!" She put a hand on his arm; her eyes looked haunted.

Joe Banks could not cope with such desperate urgency. "Well, I'll ride with you as far as your corner," he proposed. The bus was crowded. Joe Banks stood beside Mary and shouted into her ear, "Can you tell me about it now?"

"Not here!" Mary shuddered. Joe Banks was more troubled. Usually he was proud to be anyplace with the beautiful redhead. But tonight he almost wished she hadn't taken such a fancy to him. He'd like to turn her over to any one of the fellows who were looking at him so enviously.

At her corner, she coaxed him to get off with her. "We can talk in the drug store," she whispered, "and maybe you could telephone and get your car yet."

Outside, a cocky Joe Banks stood chatting beside a taxi driver who held open the door of his cab. When Mary appeared in the door, he swaggered over to catch her arm possessively. "Look, honey, I gotta take a cab into Hollywood. I don't see no harm in your ridin' along. You can drop me off and he'll bring you back."

Mary's gaze focused on him with difficulty. After a long moment, she said dully, "All right."

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, November, 19

POSSIBLY a rather dull day, with matters moving along the line of least resistance. Adhere to routine developments, but with amiability and poise and impulsively or carried away by erratic or irregular tendencies or irrepressible urges. There may be a hint of some friction, possibly a disappointment or estrangement in the purely private relations, domestic, social, or affectional. It would be well to keep a calm attitude and point of view in such contacts or dealings.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a rather colorless year, with matters moving along in routine grooves. It might be advisable to work up a little energy or ambition, mainly by attention to details or the inauguration of new methods or systems. Maintaining calm and restraint in all private relations which seem beset with inharmonious, discord, disappointment or estrangements of a sudden and unpredictable nature. Guard against erratic, unconventional or impulsive behavior.

A child born this day may be talented and original although disposed to be erratic, impulsive and self-indulgent, thereby jeopardizing its success and happiness.

Development of Children Beyond the Age of Two

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE two-year-old baby has advanced quite a way along the road of life. It began as a little animal that could not even roll over or raise its head, and can now stand and walk alone, grasp objects, do things—not very pur-

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

posefully—with its hands; it can see and focus, and has learned to coordinate the movements of both eyes; it can hear, tell what direction a sound is coming from, and even knows the significance of a few sounds.

Eating training at two years old should have progressed to the place where the baby comes to the table hungry.

He will feed himself, clumsily and spilling a good deal, but managing to get quite a lot into the mouth. He may tire from the effort in the middle of the meal and have to be helped in order to get all he should have.

Toilet training should begin to bring results at about the age of two. Parents, as a rule, expect too much of children about this. They should not make an issue of it at any time nor inflict punishments.

The average 18-month child cannot be expected to take much responsibility. It is up to the mother to see that he gets to the toilet in time. He will have many accidents, but by 18 months should have a hazy idea of what is expected of him. From then on the normal child learns rapidly. By four years, however, any child should take full responsibility for his toilet needs.

Social Contacts
Social contacts and cooperation are of slow growth. The two-year-old plays by himself. You see two two-year-olds on opposite sides of a sand pile. They are playing, but not playing together. At four they play together, even in groups, but only for a few minutes at a time. Then they rest, do something by themselves, but are soon ready at someone's suggestion to start a new game.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Bedtime and Calming," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Rabbits," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Council was to hear an offer of boulevard lights for the city from the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company, the offer to be made at a special meeting.

Pickaway county, Circleville township were working out a combined program to provide additional burial space for war veterans in Forest cemetery.

Receipt of $100 from the estate of Miss Jennie E. Lounsbury, Park place, was announced to council. The gift was made as a memorial.

10 YEARS AGO

In an effort to keep within the 15-mill limitation as allowed by law, the bond issue for the purchase of a sewage disposal plant by city council was reduced from $25,000 to $23,000.

The city's fire rates faced revision, it was learned, unless certain provisions advocated by the Ohio Bureau of Inspection were adhered to within the near future, according to a communication from T. B. Sellers, manager of the inspection bureau.

About 115 men and women met at Masonic temple of New Holland for the impressive memorial service of New Holland and Sedalia chapters of the Order of the Eastern Star.

25 YEARS AGO

Capacity of the Franklin Shoe Company's new plant in Circleville was taxed to capacity and big orders were being booked daily.

The safe in the office of the county treasury, which had resisted all efforts to open it for eight days, was finally opened by Frank Scanlan and Joseph Fauver, employees of the Charles W. Haines Safe company, Columbus, after a section of the cement and brick wall surrounding the outer shell of the vault was removed near the jam of the door.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Alkire and Mr. and Mrs. Max Zahn of Mt. Sterling entertained 12 guests at a roast pig dinner at First National bank hall of that village.

CHAPTER FORTY-TWO
CONNIE LOOKED UP from her desk as Mary came into the busy personnel department. "Back from lunch?"

Mary nodded. "May I use your phone?" Connie moved aside to make room for her and Mary dialed the F. B. I. extension. "This is Mary Dexter," she said to Denver. "Everything is fine."

"Be careful," said Denver. "Take a taxi home after you call us tonight."

Mary called Fran next. "I may be a little late," she told her. "Terribly sorry, but it can't be helped."

"Okay," Fran shouted in her excitement. "I'm going around like a pinwheel. Packed everything five times. Do you have any idea what I did with my bathing suit?"

"In that packing box on the shelf in the coat closet."

Fran groaned. "Packed it there myself. Honestly, chickadee, I'm in a bad way. They called Burke in for a last recording with the band this afternoon. Thank goodness they didn't need me. Hope they don't keep him all night! When you come home?"

Mary laughed. "I'll be late—remember? Why don't you lie down and take a nap? If Bruce gets there before me, make him wait, will you?"

"I'll nail him in the chair," Fran promised.

Mary put the receiver down with a happy surge of excitement. She had called Bruce but he wasn't in. But she knew, if he wanted to, he'd go to Yuma with them on the spur of the moment. That was Bruce. No appointment would be enough to hold him. She felt in her heart that he would go. A moonlight drive to Yuma for a wedding! She turned a dreamy smile to Connie to thank her for the phone.

Connie was watching her with a puzzled frown. "Mary, I don't like to seem inquisitive," she said in her cold, flat tones, "but that wasn't Bruce Martin you meant just now?"

"Yes, it was," Mary's voice was slightly defiant. "And no matter what you think you know about him—it isn't so," she added with a rush of feeling.

"Not even this?" Connie turned back to page of a newspaper. She pointed to a picture. Mary's eyes followed her finger with swift impatience, then focused with sudden shock. It was a shot of Bruce Martin and Toineette at the races in California, taken weeks before. But over it a banner headline: "Toineette Vaughn to Marry Next Week."

Somehow she got back to her desk and bent over her work. An applicant sat down and began his endless questions. Connie came by, asked her if she felt like working tonight. Dumbly she nodded, not looking up. She opened her desk drawer and drew out her pencil. She didn't dare think now—she must concentrate on the life of this stranger beside her or she would go to pieces. She could get to pieces. She had to meet Joe Banks in an hour. She had to go with him. She moved out of the building slightly ahead of the home-bound mob of the swing shift that night, and stood waiting at the tunnel entrance for Joe. Released from its concentration, her mind began to function. Instantly the shock and the agony swept over her again. Feebly she fought it off. It was a mistake. But she knew it wasn't a mistake. The papers had been on the stands an hour now. If it had been a mistake he would have called her. But he loved her! Releaslessly, her mind questioned. "Does he?" She turned back desperately to last night—was it only last night?—when he had told her his life, kissed her. Had he told her he loved her? No. He had thanked her for having faith in him . . . for helping him pull himself together. He had promised to see her tonight. And then today . . . he had met Toineette. It had happened before just like that. Now it had happened again. Why couldn't she realize it? Why did the pain of it have to be worse than ever?

And then she saw Joe Banks hurrying toward her.

"Listen, sister," his broad face was lit with excitement. "I couldn't borrow the car tonight. How about telling me all about it tomorrow?"

"Oh, no!" Mary's voice was alive now, please. Let me go with you. I HAVE to talk to you!" She put a hand on his arm; her eyes looked haunted.

Joe Banks could not cope with such desperate urgency. "Well, I'll ride with you as far as your corner," he proposed.

The bus was crowded. Joe Banks stood beside Mary and shouted into her ear, "Can you tell me about it now?"

"Not here!" Mary shuddered. Joe Banks was more troubled. Usually he was proud to be anywhere with the beautiful redhead. But tonight he almost wished she hadn't taken such a fancy to him. He'd like to turn her over to any one of the fellows who were looking at him so enviously.

At her corner, she coaxed him to get off with her. "We can talk in the drug store," she whispered, "and maybe you could telephone and get your car yet."

Outside, a cocky Joe Banks stood chatting beside a taxi driver who held open the door of his cab. When Mary appeared in the door, he swaggered over to catch her arm possessively.

"Look, honey, I gotta take a cab into Hollywood. I don't see no harm in your ridin' alone. You can drop me off and he'll bring you back."

Mary's gaze focused on him with difficulty. After a long moment, she said dully, "All right."

The telephone got him. He went into the drug store with her and helped her onto a stool at the counter while he waited for the woman in the one phone booth to come out. "I'm sorry you feel so bad," he told her awkwardly. "Is it the boy, friend in New Zealand?"

She nodded. "I saw in the paper, I think he's—" Suddenly she began to laugh hysterically. Her beautiful lie that she had made up so cleverly to intrigue Joe Banks! Her beautiful lie that was coming true!

Joe Banks patted her arm. "Gosh—that's a tough break, kid!" His hand squeezed her arm with new assurance. "But—keep your chin up!" His voice promised her she had nothing to worry about—he'd be around. Then his hand was gone abruptly. In the mirror behind the counter, she saw him beaming it for the telephone booth. She watched him while he talked excitedly. When he came out she met him at the door.

"Did you get the car?"

"No. Ain't that a shame?" She smiled bleakly. "Well, wait, I have an idea."

She slipped into the booth and traced the call as Denver had instructed her. Outside in the drug store, Joe Banks moved restlessly about. Perhaps he'd go. Well, it didn't matter now—if she could get that number!

Central was reporting. Mary's pencil poised above her memo pad tensely.

The number was Hollywood 9341.

She dialed Denver's private wire and gave him the information. His voice was vibrant with satisfaction.

"Dexter, you're all right. Go home now—and read the morning papers."

Mary hung up the receiver. It slipped into place with a dull click of finality. She had finished the job. It was all over. All over. Nothing to do now but go home—go home and read the morning papers . . . all about Toineette's return to her old love! She went out of the booth and crossed the drug store.

Cossack Princess

ONE logical by-product of our alliance with Russia is the Muscovite influence on current fashions. The towering cuff brim of the chechia is with us again, also the full skirted coat with edging and lining of fur... and ankle-length mink wraps for those who are especially lucky.

Other Russian-minded hats smack of the Czarina's coronet; her lace gowns, princesse fashion, mounted over pale satin are also revived. The white sheepskin coat is here; the detail we call cartridge pleating, so characteristic of the Cossack's uniform coat; the Oriental opulence of multi-colored "jewels" strung together... pearls, emeralds, rubies, sapphires, diamonds, in careless display.

Sketched left is a princess gown which borrows its neckline and cartridge pleatings from the Russian.

Made of gray velveteen in lighter hue, this frock has a princesse cut, and is detailed with a self belt that is buckled and studded with silver. Cartridge pleats are at sleeve edges and breast pockets; the collar is Russian. Note sheared beaver hat and beaver duffel bag.

GINNY SIMMS, ELSIE JANIS

GINNY Simms, one of the most popular entertainers among servicemen today, and Elsie Janis, the "sweetheart of the A. E. F." in another war, will join a Thanksgiving day variety show, which already boasts Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Don Ameche and Judy Canova in its cast. Bill Goodwin will be the announcer.

The idea behind the big two-hour program is to help take the place of the millions of holiday celebrations from which one or more members of the family will be missing this year because of service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps.

The show will be broadcast over the Columbia network Thursday November 26 from 4 to 6 p. m.

"THE GAY SISTERS"

"The Gay Sisters," film version of the popular novel by Stephen Longstreet, will be presented by Cecil B. DeMille in a special Radio Theatre adaptation, starring Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Young, Monday November 23 at 9 p. m. over CBS.

SCHEDULED ON AIR

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's niece and brother-in-law, both of whom are building Helldiver dive bombers at the Curtiss-Wright plant in Columbus, will be heard on "Conquerors of the Clouds" at 8 o'clock Thursday night over WHKC.

Ralph W. Hanson, Black Lick, a tool and die maker, and his daughter, Betty, will carry roles in the dramatization of the famed flier's rescue on the weekly dramatized aviation news program.

Featured in another scene is the dramatic story of how Lieutenant Carl Payne, of Columbus, shot down one of the first Vichy French planes over North Africa.

ORSON WELLES

Orson Welles will devote the third program of his "Ceiling Unlimited" series, November 23, to the Navigator, CBS, 7:15 p. m.

Every American boy knows the valor and skill it takes to be a pilot, but little attention has been paid to the man whose responsibility is just as great—the man whose job it is to set the course and who is responsible for getting the plane to a definite point at a specified time and back again to its base. The courage and ability of America's great Navigators will be the subject of Welles' 15 minute vignette.

Cossack Princess

ONE logical by-product of our alliance with Russia is the Muscovite influence on current fashions. The towering cuff brim of the chechia is with us again, also the full skirted coat with edging and lining of fur... and ankle-length mink wraps for those who are especially lucky.

Other Russian-minded hats smack of the Czarina's coronet; her lace gowns, princess fashion, mounted over pale satin are also revived. The white sheepskin coat is here; the detail we call cartridge pleating, so characteristic of the Cossack's uniform coat; the Oriental opulence of multi-colored "jewels" strung together... pearls, emeralds, rubies, sapphires, diamonds, in careless display.

Sketched left is a princess gown which borrows its neckline and cartridge pleatings from the Russian.

Made of gray velveteen in lighter hue, this frock has a princess cut, and is detailed with a self belt that is buckled and studded with silver. Cartridge pleats are at sleeve edges and breast pockets; the collar is Russian. Note sheathed beaver hat and beaver duffel bag.

living in Columbus for the last two years.

Mr. Workman, a graduate of South high school in 1940, is an orthopedic appliance technician, associated with the Oscar Peterson company of Columbus.

Plans for the wedding are indefinite as Mr. Workman will leave soon for duty in the armed forces.

O. E. S.
Initiatory work is planned for the meeting of Circleville Chapter No. 90, Order of the Eastern Star, Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the chapter room, Masonic temple. A social hour with refreshments will follow. Mrs. F. K. Blair is chairman of the hospitality committee.

One of the largest meteorites fell in northern Siberia in 1908. It started forest fires which laid waste an area of 100 square miles. Its impact sent air waves traveling around the earth that puzzled weather experts in far-away England. The meteorite started a new religion in one or two Siberian tribes. They worshiped it, saying it was a god come to punish the wicked.

One of the largest meteorites fell in northern Siberia in 1908.
It started forest fires which laid waste an area of 100 square miles. Its impact sent air waves traveling around the earth that puzzled weather experts in far-away England. The meteorite started a new religion in one or two Siberian tribes. They worshipped it, saying it was a god come to punish the wicked.

Pickaway County Sets Another Record for Bond Purchases

OCTOBER TOTAL NEARLY $25,000 ABOVE QUOTA

Smith Credits Industries For Spurt In Purchases Aimed At Axis Defeat

PURINA JOINS PARADE

Officials Turn Attention To School Teachers As Bond Buyers

Pickaway countians bought more of Uncle Sam's War Bonds and Stamps during October than they have in any month since war broke out, Earl A. Smith, War Bond committee chairman, announced Thursday after receiving a report from the Federal Reserve Board in Cleveland. The county's total for the month was $74,518, nearly $25,000 above the quota assigned by the State War Bond committee.

The district went over the top in sales for September, but not nearly so far as for October. Mr. Smith said that much of the credit for increased sales must go to industries of Circleville which have been doing a splendid job. R. C. McAllister, North Court chairman, designated by Mr. Smith as chairman of industrial War Bond activity, has been doing a fine job, the county chairman said.

Purina Certified
Latest industry to earn a Certificate of Merit for having at least 90 percent of its employees buying bonds regularly is the Circleville plant of the Ralston-Purina company. Mr. Smith has received the certificate which he plans to present Thursday or Friday to Eldred A. Cayce, general manager of the Purina plant.

Two weeks ago a similar award was presented to the Container Corporation of America plant where 100 percent of its almost 150 employees are taking money from each pay check for War Bonds.

Other industries are expected to follow suit within the next few weeks. While work among industrial plants is being carried on, Ohio War Bond officials are turning state, George D. McDowell, superintendent of Pickaway county schools, and Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville schools, received communications Wednesday from Roy D. Moore, state administrator for War Bond sales, urging them to start work at once among teachers with the objective of every member of the county and city teaching corps spending 10 percent of his or her monthly pay check for War Bonds.

Moore's letter urged that such action be taken at once so that all teachers may be enrolled before December 7, first anniversary of Japan's sneak punch against Pearl Harbor.

Mr. McDowell mailed copies of the communication Thursday to all superintendents in the county system, also sending return cards on which the state committee wants the number of teachers participating listed.

HOG RECEIPTS LEAD AT LOCAL STOCK AUCTION

With hog receipts totaling $11 head leading the parade of stock, Pickaway county Livestock Cooperative conducted another big sale Wednesday with prices remaining steady.

Cattle receipts totaled 218 head, while 55 calves and 244 sheep and lambs went through the market. Top price for porkers was $13.90 for good to choice hogs and for lightweights, and the same price prevailed for pigs. Calves brought a top of $17.10, stock calves reached $14.40 and sheep and lambs $14.20.

UNEMPLOYMENT FUND CONTINUES UPWARD TREND

Ohio's unemployment compensation benefit fund, being steadily increased in size against the day when unemployment in the state slackens, took an upward spurt during October as benefit payments fell to an all-time low of $472,905. October was the first month in the nearly four-year history of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation in which payments dropped below the half-million dollars mark.

The fund available for payment of benefits had passed the $260,000,000 mark.

Benefit payments in this area, which includes all of Pickaway, Madison, Delaware, Union and Franklin counties, followed the trend in the state with a total of $33,680.17 being paid out in October as compared with $50,011.09 in September.

The average weekly number of persons receiving benefits in the state during October was 10,569, a drop of 29 percent from September. In this area the average number of benefit recipients was 760, a decrease of 294 persons from September.

The number of new claims filed throughout the state numbered 6,498, a decrease of less than three percent under the previous month, while in the area, where 569 claims were filed, there was a drop of 14.8 percent to 569.

Police are seeking clues which may lead them to identity of thieves who entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Barthelmas, Union and Clinton street, sometime between noon and 9 p. m. Wednesday, rifled all drawers in the residence and escaped with a piggy bank, filled with silver.

Report of the burglary was made shortly after the Barthelmas family returned to its home to find that thieves had been active there. Police Chief W. F. McCrady said his force is without any clues.

A report was received Wednesday from Van Smith, Walnut street, who said that thieves had taken a girl's coat and some groceries from his car parked in the business district last Saturday night.
